The 2021 Biele Zôe Sauvignon confirms itself as a champion, with a silver medal at the 13th “Concours Mondial du Sauvignon”, held in March 2022 in Torres Vedras, Portugal.

Experts from all over the world tasted 1120 Sauvignons from 23 countries, including 553 French, 175 Austrian and 104 Italian wines, mostly from Friuli Venezia Giulia and Trentino Alto Adige – all regions famous for the high quality of their whites.

The 2020 vintage of the Sauvignon Biele Zôe had already been awarded a bronze medal at the Decanter World Wine Awards.

This extremely attractive Sauvignon comes from grapes grown on the typical marl and sandstone soil of the Colli Orientali del Friuli, which gives the wine an unmistakable flavour profile with well-integrated aromas of citrus, passion fruit, blossom and yellow pepper. The wide range of flavours intrigues and attracts wine lovers, who appreciate its nose-palate consistency and impressive length.

Sauvignon Biele Zôe can be found on the shelves of Italy's major supermarket chains.
